THE AUTHORS

Irina Simonovska Spirkovska graduated Law Faculty in Skopje, Macedonia, in 2004. She received her MsC degree in legal history in 2008 with the dissertation Legal Competences of the Church and School Communities in Macedonia in the XIX Century. She worked as a teaching assistant on the Faculty of Law “Iustinianus Primus” during the period 2004-2008. I. Spirkovska was performing the function Secretary General of the NGO “European Movement-Macedonia” in 2008. She is currently working on her PhD thesis at the Faculty of Political Sciences in Macedonia by the title: Influence of Culturally Plural Tendencies on Socio-Political Definition of Ethnic Identities in Macedonia. She is employee of the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Republic of Macedonia — Europe Division.

Ioan Dragoș Mateescu, PhD student, Faculty of History, University of Bucharest. Numerous participation with scientific papers and studies at national conferences and workshops, approaching The War against Terror: Afghanistan; Margaret Thatcher and the Great Britain Policies; Another Frozen Conflict on the Political Map of the Black Sea? Georgia and Russia etc.

Muhammad Riaz Shad, PhD candidate at the Faculty of Political Science, University of Bucharest, Romania. Lecturer at the Department of International Relations, National University of Modern Languages and Sciences, Islamabad. His research is focused on Pakistan’s internal and foreign policy issues, and EU foreign and security policy issues in general and EU-Pakistan/South Asia relations in particular. His articles have been published in different research Journals.

Adina Burchiu graduated from the Faculty of Letters, department of European Studies, University of Bucharest, Master’s student at Department of Sociology and Social Work, University of Bucharest, specialization Security Studies. Research interests: security issues, foreign policy and diplomacy.

Lucian Jora, research at the Romanian Academy (The Institute of Political Sciences and International Relations) 1998 —, and since 2006 a senior counselor within the Romanian Ministry of Education at the Unit in charge with the European Union financial assistance for Human Resources Development. Previous appointments include visiting research positions at the Jagellonian University, Cracow, Poland 2002, The Center for Research on Europe Canterbury University New Zealand 2002, Shandong University, Jinan China 207, Woodrow Wilson Center in Washington DC 2009.

Ana Gutu, PhD, philologer, translator, Professor of French language and literature, Université Libre Internationale de Moldavie, Faculté des Langues Etrangères et Sciences de la Communication Institute de Recherches Philologiques et Interculturelles, Département de Philologie Romane, Prime Vice rector ULIM, Vice-President of the Senate ULIM, President of the ULIM Educational Council, Member of the Parliament — legislature XVII and XVIII. Member of the Association of University Agency of Francophone in the Central and Eastern Europe (from May 2009) Paris, France-Montreal, Canada, Member of the Board of Francophone Institute for Management and Administration (IFAG), Sofia, Bulgaria. Numerous studies, books and interventions at national / international scientific events.

Abdelaziz El Amrani, PhD student at both Sidi Mohamed Ben Abdellah University, Faculty of Arts and Humanities Sais-Fez, Morocco, and Amsterdam University, Faculty of Humanities, Netherlands. His major interests include postcolonial studies, globalization studies, media studies, religious studies, post-9/11 literature, and Moroccan literature. His PhD project is about interrogating spirituality/the sacred in postcolonialism especially after 9/11.

Greg DeCuir, Jr., managing editor of NECSUS European Journal of Media Studies (www.necsus-ejms.org). His book Yugoslav Black Wave was nominated for Edition of the Year at the 2011 Belgrade International Book Fair. Adjunct Professor, Faculty of Media and Communications Singidunum University (Belgrade, Serbia). PhD student at the Faculty of Dramatic Arts in Belgrade where he is writing a dissertation on the history of Yugoslav cinema. He holds a BA in Journalism from the University of Oklahoma and an MA in Cinematic Arts from the University of Southern California. He works as a freelance writer and as an independent documentary filmmaker. Areas of Expertise/Interest: Film History/Theory/Criticism; Yugoslav Cinema; Hip-Hop Culture; Creative Writing/Screenwriting; Classic Film Noir; The Films of Alfred Hitchcock.

Carmen Burcea, scientific researcher III within The Institute of Political Sciences and International Relations, Romanian Academy. Graduated from the Faculty of History and the Faculty of Foreign Languages and Literatures — University of Bucharest. She is specialized in contemporary history and cultural diplomacy, with a PhD in History and postgraduate studies in Rome, Italy.

Stefana Biro graduated from the University of Bucharest, Faculty of Arts, with a specialization in European Studies, MA student of Communication and Public Relationships. Research interests: political science and its development, contemporary approaches over the international relationships issues.

Teodora Alexandru graduated from the University of Bucharest, Faculty of Arts, with a specialization in European Studies, MA student of Communication and Public Relationships. Research interests: international relations and European Union.

Diana Ciocan graduated Cultural Studies at the University of Bucharest, Faculty of Arts, European Studies specialization, MA student of Project Management. Research interests: European Union programs and institutions, especially for those developing their activities in areas like Culture, Education, Environment and Human Rights.

Răzvan Victor Pantelimon, PhD, researcher at the Romanian Academy, Institute of the Political Science and International Relations, lecturer at the Ovidius University, Constanța. Associate Teacher at the History Institute Pontifical Catholic University of Valparaíso, Chile. Research interests: political parties, systems and doctrines in South America. Participations at national and international conferences. Several studies and articles published in various scientific journals.

Monaim El Azzouzi, MA, specialised in the field of religion and globalisation, Abd Elmalek Essaadi University, Faculty of Letters, Tetouan, Morocco.

Valentin Trifescu (Trifesco) is an art historian who studied at the “Babeș-Bolyai” University in Cluj and the University of Strasbourg. Since 2010, teaches seminars on the history of medieval and Renaissance art at the Faculty of History and Philosophy in Cluj. He is author of the book Bisericile cneziale din Ribița și Crișior (începutul secolului al XV-lea), Cluj, 2010; editor of the volume Confluențe și particularități europene, Cluj, 2010. He also published a series of articles on cultural regionalism in Alsace and Transylvania.

Henrieta Anisoara Șerban owns a PhD from the Romanian Academy since 2006. Scientific researcher at the Institute of Political Science and International Relations of the Romanian Academy, and the Institute of Philosophy and Psychology “Constantin Rădulescu-Motru” of the Romanian Academy, Bucharest, Romania. Research interests: philosophy of communication, political communication, (soft) ideologies (feminism, ecologism, irony). She has lectured at the Catholic University of Brussels (2000-2006, within the Academic Exchange Programme), and at Loughborough University (2006, within the same programme). She has articles published in both Romanian and English languages (for example, in English, Reading the new horizon. The role of Romanian media discourse in the 2004 elections power shift, in Carpentier, Nico, Spinoy, Erik (coord.), Discourse Theory and Cultural Analysis: Media, Arts and Literature, New Jersey, Hampton Press, 2008, pp. 55-70), and books translated from English into Romanian (for instance, N. Chomsky's Failed States for Antet Publishing House, Bucharest, 2006).